The Shaping of a Woman’s Voice

Social Work CEU Series

Th | August 9 | 6-9:15 p.m. | UNLV Paradise Campus
$49 | 3 CEUs | Course #182SW3203

Women seek out therapy at higher rates than men, yet do women and the therapists with whom they work comprehend the ways in which women still fall prey to the attitudes and expectations of others? This course will explore and identify many cultural, societal, and familial influences found in the voices and the language of others that shape not only a woman’s personal voice, but her lived experience.

Instructor: Linda Brooks, Ph.D., LCSW
Professor, UNLV School of Social Work
Linda Brooks has a bachelor’s degree in sociology, a master’s in social work, and a Ph.D. in depth psychology with specialization in psychotherapy. Her dissertation, Understanding Motherhood: Through a Woman’s Personal Myth, focuses on how culture, society, and family shape a woman’s lived experience of self and motherhood. Dr. Brooks is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker and teaches at the UNLV School of Social Work. She enjoys working with individuals of all ages and from all walks of life with particular interest in women, couples, and families.
