Developing Cultural Competency in Working with LGBTQ Youth

Social Work CEU Series

Th | December 13 | 6-9:15 p.m. | UNLV Paradise Campus
$49 | 3 CEUs | Course #182SW3205

For social workers to be culturally competent with LGBTQ clients and families, we must understand relevant issues such as higher rates of depression, suicidality, victimization, substance use/abuse, and religious rejection. Discuss affirmative ways to support youth struggling to come out, as well as how to provide support for their families. Cover current language and terminology within the LGBTQ community and keys to building a positive working alliance. This workshop will also provide a list of local and online resources for both LGBTQ youth and their families.

Instructor: Laurie Lytel, LCSW, LLC
Lecturer, UNLV School of Social Work
Laurie Lytel teaches in the areas of direct practice, children, and families. She received her degrees from the University of Michigan School of Social Work and Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y.
