Ethical Issues in Working with High Conflict Family Law Cases

Social work CEU Series

Th | September 13 | 5-9:15 p.m. | UNLV Paradise Campus
$69 | 4 CEUs | Course #182SW3208

Social workers are increasingly involved in family court matters either unwittingly as therapists or as outsource providers. This workshop will explore the various roles, limits, and ethical issues that arise in such matters to include how to respond to the subpoenas for deposition and testifying.

Instructor: Kathleen Bergquist, Ph.D., MSW, J.D.
Assistant Professor/BSW Coordinator/MSW Admissions Coordinator, UNLV School of Social Work
Kathleen Bergquist completed her Ph.D. in Counselor Education at the College of William and Mary, MSW at Norfolk State University, and J.D. at UNLV Boyd School of Law. Her primary research interests are intercountry adoption from Asia and gendered violence in Asian and Pacific Islander communities.
