Chemical or process addiction has created suffering among many people; knowing how to help people deal with addiction has become an important but challenging task. This program focuses on the instructor’s ACQS model in treating addiction: A is the fundamentals of addiction; C is co-occurring disorders; Q is the quality of life; and S is the social factor.

Instructor: An-Pyng Sun, Ph.D., LCSW
Professor, UNLV School of Social Work
Dr. Sun’s research focuses on addiction treatments, including alcohol, heroin, methamphetamine, gambling, and internet gaming. In addition to her numerous publications, she is an editorial board member for the Journal of Social Work Practice in the Addictions. She joined UNLV in 1997 and was previously a counselor at an outpatient alcoholism treatment center in New York City.

Information and registration:
ced.unlv.edu/catalog/social-work-ceu-academy or 702-895-3394